

CONNECT THE DOTS, COLOR, & LEARN!

THE CONCOLOR FIR

Concolor Fir is drought tolerant, urban tolerant/adaptable, has little insect or pest problems and is a narrower tree than other large evergreens making it better suited for smaller landscape sites

The cones are approx. 2-4 inches long and pale brown when ripened

Needles have a beautiful silvery blue color and citrusy fragrance

This magnificent evergreen deserves more use in the Midwest landscape and is an excellent alternative to Blue Spruce in the landscape